DITED BY "BOZ," with illustrations by Cruikshank. "Never has a periodical precarnestly fulfilled its promines than this bilarius. magazine. It undertook to be conical, and it is comical almost to a fault. The humor of Box is humor per se : there is nothing like it ; nothing agood in its way; and it would appear that springs from which it is drawn are inexhaustible. [London Atlas.]

The extraordinary share of popularity this Co. Periodical is said to have experienced in England under the editorial management of Charles Dicks Esq. has ted the subscriber to believe that an Arresican edition of a work of such high repute for wig and talent would, in addition to the Reprints of Reviews and Magazines of a character already in sued by him, he acceptable: he therefore, respect fully takes leave to announce to the public his determination to commeace an American series (fac simile of the original) of Bentley's Miscellany, with the January aumbes of the present year, 1838, and which he may expect to have ready during the month of February.

Many editors of journals of acknowledged taste have extracted copiously from the numbers of the Miscellany as they have appeared, and the Pick. wick Papers, emanating from the pen of the talented editor, is now in course of profitable republication in this country. The character of the Work, therefore, from these circumstances, it may be presumed is so far favorably hnown as partially to have re-ceived the stamp of public approbation, which encourages the proprietor to hope that in being the mere humble instrument of presenting the first complete reprint of BERTLEY's MISCELLARY to the literati of the United States be has not mistaken the public taste; and if his inference in this respect bu offha levestigeber," a Van Buren paper, published in the city of Boston, and one of the first papers in this country which advocated the principles of modern Locd-rocorsis, thus defines the precious doctrine, under the false and assumed name of Democracy, in opposition to the principles of the Whig party, which it is pleased to denominate, as falsely, the aristoc-

"Aristocracy is a term which designates a party which upholds the belief of a spiritual ing whom they call God. The foundation of all this nonsense is written in a book by super natural inspiration, which they call a revelation from this imaginary personage. Democracy is a tirm which designates a party which upholds the belief of a materiel being whom they call

A short time since, the Loca tocox of Boston hold a grand festival in houdr of the anniversary of the birth of Thorws Paine, that hero of blasphemy, infidelity and loco-focoism. Upon this occasion, the following appropriate toast was given by one of the Van Buren leaders, Gee. d

"Christianity and the Banks Tottering on Erir last kiga, may their downfall be speetly.

A few days since, in the Massachusetts. House ol Representatives, Mr. Robert Rantonl, Jr., the acknowledged leader of the Van Buren loco forces in that body, in alluding to the depreciation of bank paper, since the suspension of specie pay ments, in the course of a loco forn anti-bank baranque, made use of the following language: "If bank bills could find a tongue, very fewof them could say with truth 'I know that my redeemer liveth'

Here is another beautiful illustration of the blasphenious spirit of foco focoism. Here is an elegant embediment of the feelings and principlea of that party at whose head stands Martin Van Buren, and which now holds the reins of the national Government, and is spreading deselation and ruin throughout the land.

How groomy and hopeless would be the ap prehensions of every lover of his country, and every true supporter of republican liberty, were it not for the sustaining confidence, that no party can long maintain the ascendancy, in this land of chrutian freedom, which arrays itself in unholy opposition to the Christian faith, derides the believer's hope of immortality, and rides rough-shod over all the charities of heaven!

THE "GOSPEL BANNER." To the Foltor of the Whig and Counter.

Six. I had fondly hoped that the article I addre and to the public last week, through your paper, in relation to the political course puraned by the editor of the above named paper, would have called him to his senses; and as it was the first, and hoped it would have been the last. But it has been passed by him, unnoticed, and again, the outraged feelings of many of his readesign occasioned by, an obituary notice of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of the countries of the countries of the fords an excellent and distant view of the countries of Hon. 1. Instead of being the highminded conductor of a neutral press he has beeon a the caterer for the morbid appetite of a political party.

Instead of emulating the precepts of his Divine Master, by allaying the strife of party, he her influe of M; and instead of healing its wounds, he has too often aggravated and decppred them. In the obituary notice refered to he saye that Mr Carter "died of a fever brought And of aggranated by the excitement occasioned by the tragked death of his colleague." This 1 W refe declaration, coming as it does, from him exceeds in political aplean, any thing that has yet met the eye, in the most reckless politipapers. Mr. Drew knew full weil, (if not I beg his pardon,) when he penned that assertion, that it was false. He ninet have known that Mr. Carter had long been sick, and the impression be thus attempts to give, that Mr. Graves and his friends, and the whole Whig party, are uns erable for his death, is not qualified by the want for aggreented", sufficiently to hide bis with the des. It was a political thrust and must be er ser-idered.

A hard day's ride brought us to the duced by the speech in question, upon the beautiful and flourishing village of Waterville. This, so many of your teaders are probably at are, in a place of considerable importance, situated at the head of boat navigation on the Kennebce. Commanding to it does a very extensive trade with the country above and with the surrounding towns and enjoying great natoral advantages from its numerous water privileges, the place has for some years past, met with a rapid growth, and is still one of the most flourishing and enterprising in the State." It already contains sery many public and private edifices and works of much beauty; and nothing out the continuance of the present nevere pressure in business can prevent other great and important improvements from being made. Among the works of private enterprise, i noticed several large and commodious brick blocks of stores which would compare with many of the same kind of buildings in our own city. The most government as , sholl put our trade and comof these have-been but very lately ereated Five public houses are among the means of accommodation which the place affords. Among the works of a public character are the College buildings, the Academy Liberal Institute, and four houses of public worship. The College is situated on a beautiful slope of the Kennebec about half a mile north of the village and occupies a most beautiful and pleasant location. The buildings connected with it are three large brick edifices, including the chapel not yet finished. In addition to these, are several commodious houses for the accommodation of the President, Professors and Steward. Two large work shops have have also been erected for the accommodation of such students as are inclined to labor at mechanical employments. The Academy building and the several houses of worship, all conspicuous for their, spires and occupying prominent situations, add very much to the elegance and interest of the village. The Ticonic falls, which are situated opposite the village, givethis place the advantage of privileges for milling and manufacturing purposes, scarcely equall? ed, and not surpassed, by any in the State, while they at the same time add much to the picturesque beauties of the town. These privileges are already turned to good account by numerous mills and manufacturies which line the banks. Important manufactories of Iron, Leather, cotton and woolen cloths, and various kinds of machinery are also found in other parts of the Opposite the village of Waterville and connected with it by a bridge which spans the fulls, is the beautiful village of Winslow. This is a place of considerable antiquity and is the site of said that if this section were stricken out, it the Fort Halifax. This fort was erected in the year 1754, and the remains are still to be seen on the point of land formed by the junction that the pay of the claimants upon government of the Sebasticook and Kennebec. The Hilf upon which part of the buildings was erected is one of a very commanding character and aff with the government, as ministers of the ca itry around and of the two rivers which run at its base. Of the erections connected with the Fort, one still remains, a venerable and antique block house, as a memorial of the ancient history of the place. The numerous bullet holeson every side of the building gives strong eviidence of its having been as it was designed, a place of safety for the whites and at the same time of the deadly hate which the aboriginal in-Here, a long and bloody war raged, and the fort was imquently found the only means of safety habitants bore lowards their near heighbors: against the deadly rage of the Indian. Very many important relics of the Indian tribes are frequently found here, which together with the oral testimony of these but lately departed, show that this place was one of great importance, as the head quarters of a numerous tribe and one of the first and most important settlements of the whites in the State. The village, though small, is one of much beauty. It has also the advantage of valuable water privileges, afforded by the falls, which, though as yet unimproved, will hereafter undoubtedly be the site of important manufactures. The dam at Augusta has so flowed the waters of the Kennebec asto afford a good navigation to this village. A steam boat, and also a flat boilomed beat, intended to be of about 120 tens borden are no ... on the stock- fur the navigation of the river to this place. These are all indications of that onward march of improvement which at present, characterize the villages of the Kepnebec.

A CITIZEN OF BANGOR.

We take pleasure in recome-ading to our Whig triends, the advice contained in the following communication, which we extract from the N. Y. Evening Star. If seems to us, that the extensive dimmination of the arguments of WERSTER among the People, and more especially among our political opposents, (many of whom, we believe to be honest men steking the light of truth) would be attended with incalculable benefit to the interests of the country. MR. WEBSTER'S SPEECH.

It is A-tyd in a Philadelphia paper that there has already been a call for 108,000 copies of Mr. Webster's speech, recently delivered in the Sensideration,and that of your Whin readers, .. hether an effet ought main be mie te chaqiatthis sport we not in him the the tre, Kentucky, ter-analyd in good hustor and seith. and Vermont, and in other states and districts Blete of Franklin's president settled the busiand Vermont, and in other states and districts. Wasslow, (239 Thich 204, 1838 or opposite and to select and confirm the doubtle and the wavering. This effort of the Wasslow is all to account news of arguing the waver of arguing the waver of a requirement. Webster Would to surpass in power of arguments in evidendes of deep reseatele and in eluquente the speech delivered in opposition to Col. Hayns in 1830; and the effect of that speech upon the ed, ideauti hing authfication, was truly astonishing. Why may not the same results be pro destrines and sellemes of the Administration, in regard to the currency of the country. Mr. Webster has the faculty, in a pre-entinear degrees of presenting truth in such a garb, as not to awaken and slarm the prejedle en or his appending to approaches them, with an air of so much moderation, transness and candor, as generally to gain a respectful hearing, and after he has been heard, he is not easily answered, but not unfrequently converts his adversary. Other eminent statesmen and orators possess a remarkable degree, the power to excite political friends to a pitch of enthusiasm; but Mr. Webster converts political opponents. cause needs the operation of both these influenores; but the latter is more needed at this time than the former. To me it seems of un-speakable, of inselculable importance, that the higs of this State should return represents tives to the next Congress from every Con gressional district of the State, if possible.

We cannot hope for any measure of perman ent relief from the present Congress. All our opes for such a change in the policy of the merce upon the foining of their former prospert ty, rests upon that Congress, to which this State Il elect its representatives next November. In anticipation of that election every proper influence should be put in operation, from which a favorable result may be expected; to me it sceme that the circulation of Mr. Webster's speech among our political opponents, binong hose who will not be likely to read it, unless pains are taken to put it into their hands, will be a useful means to the production of the desired result. If you think well of this proposition, lease give it currency through your paper, and t would be gratifying if other Why papers be would do the same would do the paine.

Cosclusion of Mr. WEBSTER'S REPLY TO The currespondent of the Bal-MR CALHOUN. impore Chronicle thus concludes his sketch of tile debate between Messrs. Calhoun and Web-

Mr. Webster; when I sent off my letter last night, was replying very pungently to Mr. Colhoun, and was turnishing yet another prour, if any more proof were needed, that that Senator himself on being. The continu pending was the proposition of Mr. Cithbert, to strike out the 23d section of the bill, being that requiring the payment and receipts of government dues to be in specie, ex clusively, after a pertain time. Mr. Webs er would leave in the bill an thiatus raide deften dus," which ought to be filted up in some way or other. It had been a phon of Mr. Burke's such is the pensioners, and officers in civil life, su judges, &c., should be provid de for first, certain medium of payment in the power of the vernment. This was one plan ; leaving this Ohid, the most primitive looking of ry of this country, which he would recommend to the Senator from South Carolina, as a precedent whence he might draw a form for the substitute of that section now proposed to be stricklen out.

He prefaced the citation of this precedent with the remark, that a portion of the territory of Tennessee was once called "The State of Franklin," and it was to an act of that territory that he wished to draw the attention of the Senator. He then began to read the fellowing, from Muttheie Curey's "American Museum, vol. 6.

An Act of the State of Frunklin for the support of the civil list.

"Whereas, the collecting of Taxes in specie, for want of a circulating medium, has become very oppressive to the good people of this Commonwealth and whereas, it is the duty of the Legislature to hear, at all times, the prayers of their constituents, and to apply as speedy a remedy as lies in their power in the whole of this stout souled, full grown, original nest, brought South Carolina, as the introduction of any amendment he might propose for the section to be stricken out ] Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Franklin, and it is

Facis for consideration, and they should couse serious reflection Eight years ago we had a United States Bank of $35,000,000 capital, twenty millions of specie in the country, and a curnny equal to any in the world.

The United States Bank has been vetoed,the deposites removed into "pet banks," and now, with eighty millions of specie, we have no ourrency in the country at all, or one of the very vorst in the world

Eight years ago a man could travel through the United States and Canada with bills of the United States Bank, and without having to pay one per cent discount.

Now, the pet and other bank bills are from fire to ten per cent discount, even in the State to which they belong.

Eight years ago, with twenty millions of spese in the country, they were at par, and all the banks paid for their notes in specie. Now, none of the banks pay for it, and one hundred and five dollars of the best bank paper must be given for one hundred dollars in specie.

Eight years ago we had specie for change. now we have thousands of tickets called "shin dasters," or no change at all.

Eight years ago, husiness, commerce, and rade all went on smoothly and prosperously. Now business is broken up and trade destroyed, and bankruptcy, distress and poverty are staring the people in the face.

Eight years ago, the expenses of government were thirteen millions of dollars. Now they are over thirty two millions of dollars!

The following was written by Miss Martineau after she had visited the Somate Chambe at Washington.

"The American Senate is a most imposing assemblage. When I first entered it. I thought I never saw a finer set of heads than the forty sixbefore my eyes: two only being absent, and the Union then consisted of twenty-four States Mr Calhoun's countenance first fixed my attenwas not quite so invulnerable as he had plumed tion; the splendid eye, the straight forehead, surmounted by a load or stoff, upright, dark hair; the stern brow; the inflexible mouth; it is one of the most remarkable heads in the country. apon the common object against which both Next to him sat his colleague Mr. Preston, it singular contrast. stout in person, with a round fairly clied "enough." He entered his serious roudly, good humored face, large blue eyes, and a wig, orange to day, brown yesterday, and go dcombate, and his resolve that he would never en to morrow. Near them sat Col. Benton, a temparary people's man, remarkable chiefly for his poinposity. He sat swelling amidst his pile of papers and books, looking like a being dissigned by nature to be a good humored barber or unkeeper, but forced by fate to make liftuiselt into a mock heroic senator. Opposite sat the transcendent Webster, with his soffere forehead and cavernous eyes; and behind, the homely Clay, with the lace and figure of a farmer, but something of the air of a divine, from his hair being combed straight back from his temples Near them sat Southard and Porter; the former assute and rapid in countenance and gesture the latter strangely mingling a boyish fun and lightness of manner and glance, with the sobilely suitable to the judge and the Senator. His keeneye takes in every thing that passes; his and that that of officers immediately connected extraordinary mouth, with its overhanging lip, has but to unfold into a smile to will beughter from the sourest official or demagague. there was the bright bonhammie of Ewing of however, there was yet one other, in the into- and the benign, religious gravity of frelinghty. sen; the gentlemanty air of Buchanan, the shrewdness of Poindexter; the somewhat melancholy simplicity of Silsuce, - all these, and many others, were striking; and for nothing more than their total unlikeness to each other. No English person who has not travelled over half the world can form an idea of such differances amony men forming one assembly for the same purposes, and speaking the same language Some were descended from Dutch tarmers, some hon French linguenot , some from Sco ch purilans, some from English cavaliers, some from Irish chieftains. They were brought together out of law courts, sugar helds, merchant's stores, mountain farms, forests, and prairies. The stamp of originality was impressed on every one, and inspired a deep involuntary respect. I have seen no assembly of chosen men, and no company of the high born, invested with the antique dignities of an untique vealm, half so imposing to the imagination as this collection of preamble Mr. Webster thought excellent, and together on the ground of their supposed suffi recommended its adoption, to the Senator from ciency, to work out the will of their diverse constituents:

THE attention of School Committees, Teachers and Parents, is invited to the examination of "Juvenile Reader," a selection of easy Read-Lessier, by a. Teacher, a new edition of which, revised and corrected, we have just published. It is believed that the book is one which bee been very much wanted in our common schools, and indeed it was compiled at the request of many of our best Teachers. The compiler is a gentleman of known abilities, and long experience in his profession. The pieces of this book, are chiefly sc-lected from popular works designed for youth, and it is believed, will have a healthy moral influence in those schools in which it is adopted. The book comes at a very low price and has been adopted in a great many Schools with decided approbation, and having been stereotyped, is tree from the danger of having any alterations make in it, which is he greatest trouble with all school books.

Those connected with schools, or interested in any manner, are requested to call and examine it.

"The Vegetable Pulifonary Balsam has been sold in this country for two years, and the medicine has gained an uncommon celebrity, for it scarcely in one instance failed of having the desired effect.

I am by no means in favor of the many nostrums, most of which are impositions upon a creditions public, but that which I know by experience to be of fection, I cannot help but give my approbationthereto.
